

Panthers Pack Lunches For Children In Need

By Florida Tech // February 12, 2014

PROGRAM SPONSORED BY THE CHILDREN'S HUNGER PROJECT

BREVARD COUNTY, FLORIDA — Florida Tech's student-athletes helped prepare lunches in support of The Children's Hunger Project at the Clemente Center last Saturday.

Carissa Thiel, Jenna Goodroe, Ashtin Truesdale, Cassidy Ziech and Cheyanne Kauffman (left to right) from the volleyball team help pack lunches for Brevard County children on Saturday at the Clemente Center. (Florida Tech image)

Members of the Florida Tech football, men's and women's golf, women's rowing, men's soccer, men's tennis and volleyball teams participated in the event.

Over 2,000 volunteers produced 25,000 packages of food that will be given to Brevard County elementary school students in need.

John Bocinsky

"We came in as a team and arrived around 7 a.m.," sophomore midfielder and Brevard County native John Bocinsky said.

"We helped set up long tables full of canned goods, milk and drinks to package for kids in need in Brevard County. After we set up, we worked in 45-minute shifts of individually packing, wrapping and carrying out the meals to semi-trucks. We formed an assembly line. It was good to work as a team because we have a lot of chemistry."